

Zouk Tea Bar & Grill is a new generation Indian and Pakistani restaurant. They are renowned for the outstanding quality of the food on offer.

Vision were involved from the beginning of the project with the client at Zouks. The client informed Vision of the brief, the type of cooking the client wanted to include, the type of equipment they were looking for, the results they wanted to achieve and the ambience they wanted to create.

The client told Vision exactly what they wanted to achieve and Vision offered their expertise and experience. In the planning process, Vision presented designs as CAD drawings and visuals and the client gave their input on designs.

The key design factor for the client was that they wanted the kitchen to be on display so that the customer could see the cooking taking place and be surrounded by the smells of the cuisine. The client also wanted the charcoal grills to be on display so that the flames could be seen by the customer.

Vision did all the fit out and the whole scheme was overseen during the implementation. There were various points of sign off and the client kept informed throughout the process. The client was left extremely satisfied with the finished product.

I hadn't actually worked with Vision before but I chose them because I'd heard good things about them. I've been in the trade a long time and you hear about other good professionals in the industry. I'd heard about Vision through various sources and I had read about some of their work in 'Restaurant Magazine'. They understood what we wanted straight away which was, most importantly, a fully fledged open kitchen with everything on view. It had to look right - not just a mish mash of ideas. We wanted the whole restaurant to look 'state of the art' and very presentable to showcase our superb food.

It has been a pleasure to work with Vision; they are an excellent and professional organisation to work with. I always believe that if you happen to find a company that manages to meet all your needs then that's precious and yes, I would gladly work with them again.
